

Four Arrested For Alleged Cattle Theft

Four men arrested by Chief Deputy Sheriff Gerald V. Price Jr. and Deputy Gerald Favre were released on $1,000 bond each pending a hearing October 20 in Judge Lester Hoyer's court on a charge involving the alleged theft and butchering of two cattle October 4.

Deputy Price said the men apprehended were: L. Robert F. Herbert and Sergeant, Carman E. Corbin of the Morgan City, La., police department; Arthur T. Dinger, Morgan City and Charles Higgerson, formerly of Morgan City, now living in Ansley.

Price said the cattle were the property of N. E. Beckenoff of Seely Texas, who owns a farm near Ansley. Andrew Ladner, caretaker, who found the two freshly butchered carcasses, reported the incident to the sheriff's office.

According to Price, he and Favre followed car tracks in the area leading from the pasture to the Higgerson residence and after searching the premises, a hind and front quarter, a package of meat and hide were found near the Higgerson place.

Dinger and Higgerson were arrested Wednesday at the Higgerson home and Herbert and Corbin voluntarily came to Mississippi Thursday after a warrant had been issued to Morgan City officers for their arrest, Price said.

Price and Favre were assisted in their investigation by Jack E. Smith and Ray Gardner of the State cattle theft bureau, Price concluded.

HUGE CIRCUS TO SHOW HERE MONDAY, OCT. 16

In this age of automotive devices there are not many people who can handle more than one horse, small or full grown.

Capt. Jerry Conder, Texas horse breeder and trainer, handles a group of 12 matched black and white horses in an intricate routine and will appear with the Al G. Kelly and Miller Bros. Circus in Bay St. Louis, Monday, October 16, on Scafield Bros. Showgrounds on Highway 90.

A trainer of the old school, Capt. Conder has coached his animals in the best of tradition. Free of all leads and directed only by his softly called signals, these perfectly trained equines perform as one as they weave and interweave in rhythm this formation, rearing on their hind legs all in unison.

Training his proteges was just one part of Capt. Conder's task. He searched the horse markets and bred only animals he felt would obtain the horses suitable to his needs. After years of buying and breeding he assembled his present group, which all lovers of horses will applaud.

Long months of training in Al G. Kelly and Miller Bros. Circus winter quarters were spent before he was satisfied that they were ready to enter the circus tent and perform before the public. Now Capt. Conder's drill horses are heralded as the fastest group of Liberty Horses in the show world.

During the one day engagement of the Al G. Kelly and Miller Bros. Circus many additional animal acts can be seen at both performances, 2:30 and 8:00 p.m. Such feature animal displays as Empress Leota conquering a cage of leopards, Siberian Wolves, and panthers, Capt. Snow and his educated Sea Lions, Debbie, the comical Chimpanzee, prancing ponies, ponderous but dainty elephants, and the world's only trained hippopotamus, Miss Oklahoma. Under the mammoth circus tent in three rings, two stages and a steel arena will appear many newly imported acts that will both thrill and please the public. Two gigantic musical spectacles have been added for the 25th Anniversary Edition. Toyland, where nursery rhymes and fairy tales come to life, and DANCE TO THE SUN GOD, tribal dances of the REDMEN.

Doors to the largest traveling zoo and menagerie will open at 1:30 and 7:00 p.m.

The proposal, approved at Monday's meeting would allow municipalities to pay up to 50 per cent of the premium cost to provide hospitalization coverage for employees and their families.

Scafield said his plan was primarily intended for the small municipalities where pay scales of employees are low; however, a motion by Alderman Michael Praseno of Moss Point was broadened to include municipalities of any size.

The insurance program will be recommended for adoption by the Mississippi Municipal Association for presentation to the Mississippi Legislature during the 1962 session.

Dizzy Dean Enterprises To Build Charcoal Plant In State

Jay Hanna Dean, better known to millions of baseball fans as "Ole Diz", announced today that Dizzy Dean Enterprises, Inc., of which he is Vice-President, will build a $350,000 charcoal briquet plant at Pachuta, Mississippi. Construction will start immediately after the passage of a $150,000 BAWI bond issue for the construction of the buildings and kilns.

Dizzy Dean Enterprises is a subsidiary of Mississippi Industries, Inc. Warren Hood of Jackson is president of both companies, and W. A. Roper is General Manager of the charcoal briquet operation. Dean said that the new industry, first for Pachuta, would be in operation shortly after January 1, 1962. When in full operation the plant will produce 10,000 tons of charcoal briquets annually and will provide direct and indirect employment for over one hundred people. Dean pointed out that the company will use over $200,000 worth of hardwood timber annually when in full production. The type of hardwoods used in making charcoal briquets is now considered by timber growers as "waste" timber.

"Ole Diz", a native Arkansan, has adopted Mississippi as his "second home." His wife, Pat, is from Bond, Mississippi, where the Deans now have a home and where he spends much of his time during the off-season from his television show. He has long been recognized as one of Mississippi's top boosters and was recently honored by the State Junior Chamber of Commerce, and Governor Ross Barnett who proclaimed a "Dizzy Dean Day" for his many favorable comments about Mississippi during his nation-wide TV show.

Dizzy Dean Enterprises, one of eight Mississippi Industries subsidiaries, was organized early this year. President Hood announced that at a latter date, in addition to charcoal briquets, the company will market other items in the outdoor cooking line.

Other MII subsidiaries include Atlas Roofing Company at Meridian, Atlas Tile and Brick Company at Shuqualak, Atlas Tank Manufacturing Company at Vicksburg, AMID Laboratories and Max Muller And Company at Jackson, Fireproof Products Company at Terry, and Morton Manufacturing Company at Morton.

WAVELAND, MISS.

The parade in honor of the 134th Transportation Unit on Monday afternoon was lovely but sad. The eyes of many were tear filled. Many had sons, husbands, relatives or friends in this unit and to many it brought back a flash of memories not too long ago. With prayers and love of God may war time measures be turned to peace.

A meeting of the Municipal Coast Association was held at Haverly's Restaurant and Lounge on Monday night.

There were fifty-eight attending. It was Ladies night and wives attended with their husbands.

Supper was served before the meeting. Mayor Bob Reed of Long Beach and president of the association called the meeting to order and the business of this meeting was carried on.

However, before the meeting ended, Mayor Bob Reed received a call that one of his children had been in an accident. He turned the meeting over to the vice-president and Mayor Reed and his wife left immediately.

Mayor Garfield Ladner called Mayor Reed Tuesday morning to inquire about the accident and was told by Mayor Reed that his child had not been hurt seriously and was getting along fine.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Bert Ladner on the arrival of their third child and first son on Friday, October 6th at Baptist Hospital in New Orleans.

Mrs. Ladner came home on Tuesday but the baby remained at the hospital in an incubator. He weighed 4 pounds, 7 ounces.

FORESTRY NOTES

Hancock County is one of the 14 counties in Mississippi which is eligible to receive up to 50% federal reimbursement for planting trees on 16th section school lands, stated Purvis the Mississippi Forestry Commission's area forester for Hancock County.

He added that the Forestry Commission is working with the Board of Supervisors in making arrangements for planting 300 thousand trees on 320 acres of school lands in the county.

The Commission provides timber management and marketing services on 16th section school lands under a written agreement with the Board of Supervisors. "It is anticipated that developing the full productivity of the timber on these lands will add greatly to the money available for the support of schools in the county," explained Purvis.

IDLE ACRES CAN BE MADE PROFITABLE

Area foresters throughout Mississippi are reminding landowners that the state has more than six million acres of unproductive land, and that the most practical method of putting idle acres to productive use is the planting of tree crops. Trees planted now will be ready for harvest in time to meet the predicted rise in demand for wood and wood products due to rapid industrialization within the state.

HUNTING AND FISHING

Hunting and fishing is big business in Mississippi and the nation. Outdoor enthusiasts spent quite a few dollars at these sports last year. Mississippi is rapidly gaining national recognition as the "Sportman's Paradise." While the national population increased eleven per cent from 1955 to 1960, the number of new hunters and fishermen jumped twenty-two per cent. As a matter of fact, Mississippi's present hunting and fishing industry compares favorably with incomes from other activities.

Outstanding Choral Productions To Be Presented At M. S.

HATTIESBURG, Miss. — Two outstanding choral productions will be presented at Mississippi Southern College during the current school year, according to an announcement made this week by Dr. David Foltz, chairman of the Department of Music and director of choral activities.

All choral organizations will combine with the College Orchestra to produce the great Bach Christmas Oratorio in a gala concert on Sunday, Dec. 10, in the Main Auditorium on campus at 8 p.m. This is just prior to the beginning of the Christmas holidays.

In the spring, all choral organizations will combine to produce the new music drama "King David" by Honneger, with the renowned actor Basil Rathbone as guest narrator.

An expanded and reorganized choral music program at Mississippi Southern provides opportunities for all students in all schools and departments to participate during the current school year.

There will be four choral groups, according to Dr. Foltz. These will be the College Chorus, College Choir, Men's Glee Club, and Women's Glee Club.

The College Chorus (formerly the Choral Union) is open to all students without tryouts. Membership in the other three groups is by audition. The Men's Glee Club will appear frequently in campus, community, and out-of-town concerts.

CARD OF THANKS

We, the family of the late Anthony Benvenuti wish to thank the Hancock County Blood Bank and the individual donors, who so kindly answered our many calls for blood.

We will always be grateful.

Make Plans For Altar Society Turkey Dinner

Plans for the Altar Society annual turkey dinner were made at the joint monthly meeting Thursday of St. Margaret Daughters and the Altar Blessed Sacrament Society. The date for the dinner was set for November 19 at Our Lady of the Gulf Cafeteria.

Mrs. V. J. Piazza, president, St. Margaret Daughters opened the meeting with prayer.

Mrs. E. P. Larroux, Altar Society president, announced the third Sunday of the month was Communion Sunday for all ladies of the Parish. She also announced that the DCCW convention will be held at the Forest Hotel, Jackson, October 14 and 15.

Mrs. Piazza reminded members that St. Margaret Daughters will host two veterans parties in November. One is scheduled for the fourth Tuesday of the month and one for the third Saturday. She asked for their assistance with the entertainment.

A report was also made on clothing, medical and other supplies furnished needy families during the month. Mrs. R. V. Blenvenu made 12 dresses for small girls, and she has started making Christmas dresses.

Mrs. Piazza also told the group that old eye glasses are still needed and are being collected by her. Refreshments were served to 25 members by October Guild leader Mrs. Curtis Mathern and her assistants.

Between 1940 and 1960 combined steelmaking capacity of the three largest U. S. companies increased 65 per cent, compared with 108 per cent for the rest of the steel industry.

Mississippi Auto Dealers Announces 1961 Quality Award Nominations

Nominations for the 1961 Mississippi Quality Dealers Award were open today by the Mississippi Automobile Dealers Association, according to W. L. Breed of Louisville, Chairman of the Public Relations Committee.

The annual Quality Dealer Award recognizes the factory-franchised new car dealer in Mississippi who has rendered the greatest community service above and beyond the services normally rendered in conducting his retail dealership.

Breed went on to explain that nominations will be received from local businessmen's civic and service clubs, chambers of commerce, newspaper editors, local auto dealer associations, and members of the Mississippi Automobile Dealers Association.

From these nominations, the winner will be selected by a jury composed of three leading Mississippi citizens.

The award will be presented to the Quality Dealer of the year at the Mississippi Automobile Dealers Convention in Biloxi on November 12, 13 and 14.

In 1960, E. E. Kossman, Jr. of Cleveland was named, and in 1959, Flowers Hamrick of Greenwood was selected.

The Mississippi Quality Dealer is automatically entered in the Benjamin Franklin Quality Dealer competition, sponsored by The Saturday Evening Post.

International Harvester Company Moves Sales Office To Jackson

International Harvester Company will open a new farm equipment district sales office in Jackson November 1, according to H. B. Coffman, Chicago, the company's farm equipment regional sales manager for the area. The operation is being transferred to Jackson from New Orleans, where it has been located since 1954.

During the past five years, the American steel industry has produced about three-fifths of a ton of steel each year for each American. Per capita production was 1,236 pounds annually.

Turn of Card May Reveal Fate Of Young Birth Defects Victim

At March of Dimes Birth Defects Study Center, Johnny X shown against background of electronic computer card which records his life so far—and his chances of survival.

Johnny X from Tennessee is nine months old. His head is extremely large for the small body. He has water on the brain.

When his mother recently took Johnny to the Birth Defects Study Center at Vanderbilt University School of Medicine, Nashville, Tenn., for specialized treatment of this disease, known medically as hydrocephalus, his first appointment was with a doctor who had a most unusual assistant—an inanimate electronic sorter.

Dr. Robert E. Merrill, assistant director of the Birth Defects Study Center, a research unit financed by The National Foundation-March of Dimes, explained:

"This apparatus is something unique when applied to birth defects. It can be a lifesaver. It's an IBM machine, and its memory is many thousands of times more retentive than the proverbial elephant's. In effect, our mechanical robot here is going to interview Johnny and, although I'm Johnny's doctor, I'm really acting only as a sort of glorified office boy to the machine."

Using a device somewhat resembling a typewriter keyboard, Dr. Merrill began punching a rectangular oblong green card, measuring about 7" x 3". Each perforation represented the mother's answer to one of a long list of questions. Her answers covered such data as Johnny's age and birthdate, mother's age at delivery, illnesses of mother during pregnancy, any stillbirths, physical defects in husband or wife, Johnny's weight, his age when his head started to enlarge and head circumference.

Scores of other vital facts are fed into the machine that never forgets.

When the sorter finishes "interviewing" Johnny, the green card has recorded for all time and in capsule form the infant's past and present life, and his family background.

More significantly, the electronic device also faithfully remembers the case histories of hundreds of other Johnnys whose brain fluid is blocked as it is with this boy.

Dr. Merrill has only to run these cards through the high-speed sorter to compare these life histories with Johnny's.

Most important of all, for this youngster and his apprehensive parents, is that the sorter can help the doctor form a reasonably accurate idea of Johnny's immediate future; help him decide on the advisability of surgical insertion of a "shunt" or plastic tube to draw off the excess fluid into the blood stream; and indeed, assist the physician in predicting the future course of the disease.

This is done by a study of past performances of other hydrocephalic infants whose medical circumstances closely resemble those of this baby. That data is available almost instantly—"in a minute fraction of the time," as Dr. Merrill says, "required to go through the records by hand."

This comparative diagnosis "can save a child's life," he adds. "At least one thing we now can have up-to-date to guide us, and guide us instantaneously, is our experience. In five minutes, usually, the sorter can give us information that helps us decide precisely what to do in Johnny's case—and what not to do."

Aside from the Birth Defects Study Center at Vanderbilt, The National Foundation-March of Dimes has financed similar centers at Children's Hospital, Columbus, Ohio, and at the University of Oklahoma Medical Center at Oklahoma City.

Eventually, when the experiment Dr. Merrill is conducting is completed, the study centers are expected to pool their records of hundreds of victims of significant birth defects for the benefit of all. Tragically, there are about 250,000 such infants born yearly in the United States.

State Senator Will Head February Heart Campaign

Senator G. V. (Sonny) Montgomery of Meridian is the newly named 1961-1962 Heart Fund chairman in Mississippi. He will organize and lead the state-wide effort to finance a three-way fight against the heart and blood vessel diseases which cut off 10,189 Mississippi lives last year.

Appointed by Gen. A. G. Paxton of Greenville, president of the Mississippi Heart Association, Sen. Montgomery is an active heart volunteer and a former district heart chairman.

Goal for the 1961-1962 Heart Fund is $200,000. In the year just ended, generous Mississippians contributed $180,000 to the heart fight. The proposed increase is in keeping with the steady growth of public support for the voluntary health agency's program to relieve the inroads of heart disease.

Says Sen. Montgomery, "Money invested in the Heart Fund is spent first for research into the causes and cures of the heart diseases. This year," he goes on, "47 cents of every heart dollar given in Mississippi is allocated for research and training."

"The rest of the money," the chairman explains, "pays for refresher courses for doctors and nurses, for literature and information about heart disease, and for community service such as the West Mississippi Heart Clinic which opened in Vicksburg in March."

In his second term as senator from Lauderdale county, Montgomery heads the senate insurance committee and is vice-president of the Greater Mississippi Life Insurance Company of Meridian.

He is current president of Mississippi State Alumni Association and is a lieutenant colonel in the National Guard, commanding the 150th Transportation Tactical Carrier Battalion. Sen. Montgomery is a past-president of the Mississippi National Guard Association.

He belongs to the Episcopal Church, the Masons, Optimist Club, American Legion, V. F. W., the Shrine and Royal Order of the Moose. He is a former recipient of the Meridian Young Man of the Year Award.

Joseph Latham of Jackson will work with Sen. Montgomery as special gifts chairman in the 1962 Heart Fund campaign.

COUNTY AGENT'S NOTES

O. O. SWORDS
County Agent

HOW BIG IS AGRICULTURE?

It is the state's biggest industry, and lots of other industries depend on it. It is growing!

Farming already accounts for $3.2 billion a year in the state. Add it up! $600,000,000 farmers received for crop and livestock sales (1958) $2,600,000,000 agribusiness for transporting, processing, distributing and merchandising farm products and providing farm supplies. These include:

Processing farm products (wages paid 1959) $284 million; Wholesale farm products (wages paid 1959) $25 million; (sales 1959) $813 million; Retailing farm products (sales 1959) $682 million; (wages paid 1959) $55 million; Farm supplies purchased (1959) $441 million.

Beside this, many other businesses depend on agriculture. So $3.2 billion is a conservative figure.

PASTURE POINTERS

Early September is the time to plant oats or wheat for early fall grazing. Don't try to wait until danger of worms is past. If you do you'll be too late to have early grazing. If planting oats be sure to plant seed that have been treated for leaf blight.

At planting time, apply 60 pounds per acre of nitrogen. Don't forget phosphate and potash. Tests on experiment stations prove that these are necessary for good growth of winter grazing. Apply all fertilizer at the planting time. Clover areas should be fertilized this month with 60 pounds per acre each of phosphate and potash. It will be best to top dress this before the young clovers come up to a stand.

Sod seeding can be done now on area where hay has been cut or where soybeans have been harvested. On heavy sod areas, wait until the sods become dormant in October.

WINTER FEEDING

Better plan to feed your cattle from 90 to 120 days this winter. This is the range of time during which cattle usually need help in making it through the winter. The amount of time you have to feed your cattle will depend on the condition they are in when winter comes, the amount of crop residue and frosted grass available and the severity of the weather.

Don't spend your money wintering a non-producing cow. If they don't bring a calf each year, then they should go to market.

It is a good idea to divide the herd for wintering. Cows with calves at side should be in one group, those close to freshening in another and the third group should consist of those not close to calving.

Feed requirements for the different groups will vary. Those with calves at side will need more feed to maintain their weight and make enough milk for the calf.

Cows that are close to calving should be checked daily for any troubles that might show up.

All herd should be divided in to age and sex group replacement heifers should not be run with steer calves nor yearling steers. Neither should they be run with mature cows. Bulls set in the pasture with the wintering cows. They are expected to do their job during breeding season.

Worms and ticks are not necessary to wintering in general but for making sure the animal have adequate feed.

Remember, a good feeding program will go a long way toward controlling parasites and diseases.

To winter cows successfully, you must give them some protein. For dry cows protein meal can be mixed with salt two to one; yearly cattle will generally need three parts meal to one of salt; calves will need four parts of meal to one of salt. Amount of meal to give each class of animal will vary with age and condition of animal. Check with your local County Agent on this.

Make sure that you have plenty of roughage available. Mature cows will need around a ton and a half of hay or two and a half ton of silage.

CORN HARVESTING

Get the corn out of the field as soon as it is dry and mature enough to harvest.

If you leave it in the fields too long, you are going to get a lot of damage from insects and rot. Rats, birds and other pests can also take a toll from your corn if it is left too long in the field.

Check with your county agent about moisture content for safe storage of corn. Clean up your storage bins before putting this years crop in the bin.

ORCHARD

You can reduce the damage from worms in next year's peach crop by applying aldrin, dieldrin, or heptachlor under the peach trees now. Scatter one-half to one teaspoon of 10 percent granular material under the spread of the branches of each tree. Work into the soil. One treatment is effective for several years.

GARDENING

Get ready for a full fall garden. Plenty of vegetables are on the planting list. Some of these include: spinach, onion sets or seed, mustard, radish, rape, tendergreens, turnips, parsley, cabbage, leaf lettuce, kale, and carrots. You can still plant head lettuce until September 20.

COBALT PELLETS FAIL TO INCREASE WEIGHT OF LAMBS

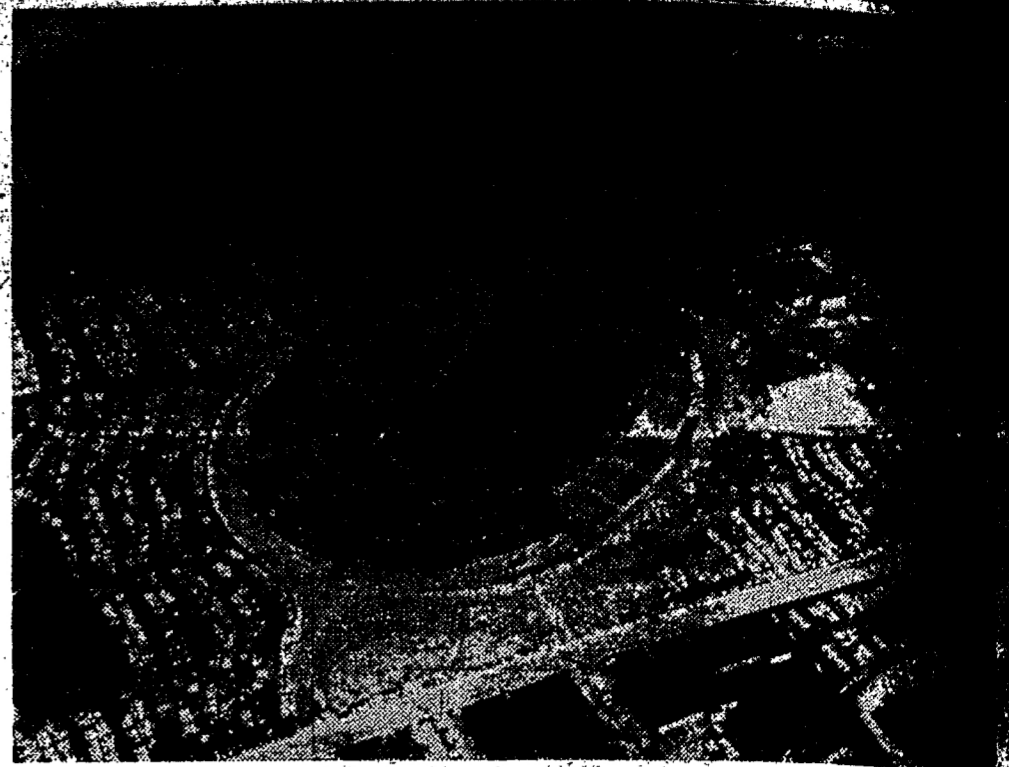

Cobalt pellets failed to increase weights in Experiment Station tests involving 756 lambs at four locations in Mississippi.

Dr. H. W. Essig of the Animal Husbandry Department has recently reported results of extensive tests at Mississippi State University, at two branch Experiment Stations and one plantation in the state. From these tests he concluded that while stillbirths increased gains, the cobalt pellets "exhibited no beneficial effect on the weight of the lamb."

By slaughtering some of the lambs at various stages of the test ranging from 3 to 268 days, he measured the weight loss of the pellets in the digestive tract. The theory of the pellets is that, after it is administered orally, it remains in the digestive system to provide a constantly available source of cobalt to aid in production of vitamin B-12, which in turn is necessary for optimum growth. He found that the pellets remained in the rumen-reticulum area for at least 103 days, and at 268 days pellets were still being recovered from some of the slaughtered lambs. The pellets appeared to lose weight at the rate of .2 to .3 mgs. per day.

The report, published in the October issue of Mississippi Farm Research is available on request from the Experiment Station at State College. It covers work done by E. A. Kiser, Bryan Barker, J. and J. J. Long, at the Experiment Station, and John H. Hines, at the Natchez Experiment Station. Dr. H. W. Essig is head of the Animal Husbandry Department.

MISSISSIPPI MEMORIAL STADIUM DEDICATED AT THE STATE CAPITAL WITH EXCITING FOOTBALL DOUBLEHEADER

A total of 80,000 football fans witnessed the first two games to be played in the beautiful Mississippi Memorial Stadium located in the Capital City. The 46,000 capacity stadium, one of the finest in the nation, is owned and operated by the State. The above photograph shows many of the features of the new stadium including the tremendous parking areas immediately adjacent. On October 21, a similar scene will be duplicated when Ole Miss and Tulane meet for their annual football classic in Jackson.

Honor Program For 4-H Advisory Councils Offered For 1962

STATE COLLEGE, Miss. — An Honor Program for the county 4-H advisory councils is offered for 1962 by the State 4-H Advisory Council.

These councils are composed of men and women who have demonstrated their interest in youth activities by sponsoring phases of 4-H Club work.

This Honor Program should promote the effectiveness of the county councils, said Dr. D. B. Roark of Yazoo City, chairman of the State 4-H Advisory Council, and C. I. Smith of State College, state 4-H leader of the Agricultural Extension Service. It gives each county council materials that both suggest ways that it can help 4-H and allow it to score its progress on a point basis.

Councils scoring 750 out of the possible 1,100 points will receive a plaque or certificate, together with publicity, from the State 4-H Advisory Council.

Special Honor Recognition will be given to any council that maintains a minimum score of 900 for three consecutive years.

Results of a strong county 4-H advisory council include greater public support and understanding of 4-H in the county. There is a larger and more active 4-H membership. A greater number of active 4-H adult leaders help all the boys and girls. Parents have greater interest and understanding of 4-H.

County Extension Service agents have full information about this program and are glad to discuss it with adults interested in helping 4-H Club work.

Between 1940 and 1960 combined steelmaking capacity of the three largest U. S. companies increased 65 per cent. Compared with 106 per cent for the rest of the steel industry.

Ground Broken At Natchez For New Industrial Plant

Lt.-Gov. Paul B. Johnson, representing the State of Mississippi, participated in ground-breaking ceremonies September 26 for Thor Power Tool Company's new manufacturing plant at Natchez.

To be built and operated by the Cincinnati Rubber Manufacturing Company, a subsidiary of the Thor Power Tool Company, the plant will represent an expenditure of more than $500,000. It will be located in the industrial area adjacent to the Natchez

Adam County port and will put rubber coverings on cores, supply rubber-covered rolls, etc., primarily for paper mills. Cincinnati Rubber president W. V. Shakespeare said the move to Natchez would reduce charges to buyers in the South.

After weeks of planning, Jim and I had decided to buy an electric range. Neither of us had ever cooked with electricity, but a lot of our friends had electric ranges and liked them. The automatic features appealed to both of us.

We were on our way to the appliance store when Jim slammed on brakes. "Hey," he said, "this house isn't wired for an electric range. We can't pay for a re-wiring while we're here at the same time!"

He had already turned the car around when I suddenly remembered Tom and the Homepower Program. They had needed a re-wiring for an electric dryer and had qualified for Mississippi Power Company's Homepower Plan. The company furnished them a heavy-duty service box and the National Electric Contractors Association. The appliance dealer explained the program to us, and we decided to take advantage of the additional wiring and the range. And, best of all, the Homepower Program when you install your next

FOOD AND WATER FOR EMERGENCY.

In case of a nuclear attack, many survivors would have to re- ly on their own supplies of food and water for up to two weeks.

Families are urged to either store and maintain a special emergency food stockpile in their homes or fallout shelter, or to build up their regular stocks so there is a 2-week supply on hand at all times.

Stockpile foods should be in cans, jars or tightly sealed paper containers, preferably in sizes that will supply just enough for one meal. Foods should be cho- sen that will last for months with- out refrigeration and that can be eaten with little or no cooking.

A new USDA publication, "Fast- ly Food Stockpile for Survival," gives other information on food and water supplies, sample men- us, equipment for emergency cooking. You should allow a mini- mum of seven gallons of drinking water for each person for two weeks.

DETERGENTS NO ANSWER TO WHITENESS

Don't expect the detergents to keep all white fabrics from gray- ing and yellowing, according to recent studies of laundering. Even if the detergent has fluorescent whitening agents and some color- ing material, which many do, these ingredients will not keep all white fabrics snow white.

These added ingredients help in cleaning and fading. White fabrics with no finisher and softener added, polyester garments become discolored faster than cotton.

Our easy-care cottons, which are now as common as cottons, are out a flash, as well as being sur- prised when your white easy-care garments get gray.

The extra ingredients have lit- tle or no effect on helping to keep most nylon and dacron white.

The clothing and housing divi- sion of the Home Economics Re- search branch of USDA made this study.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL...
ALL FOR THE CHURCH
The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

This is the best bubble he has ever blown, big and shiny and full of rainbow lights that shimmer gaily as he blows... and blows... and blows...
Inevitably, there will come the moment when he will blow too hard and the bubble will burst. And then what was a thing of bewitching beauty will have vanished into air.

Some of the brightest-appearing things in life are no more stable than bubbles. They can shatter in an instant. But there are values that endure... the kind of values we learn in Church. The Church can help us achieve something solid and real, and the faith it teaches us is in no danger of disappearing today... tomorrow... or ever.

Fifteen contestants representing the 15 counties in the Mississippi Forestry Commission's Southeast District competed for the title.

Miss Betty Price, 18 year old daughter of Mrs. J. T. Price of Poplarville, was selected first alternate. Miss Jean Fairley of Escatawpa, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Fairley, Jr., was chosen second alternate.

October 1-7 Was "Employ Physically Handicapped Week"

Goodwill Industries of Mississippi highlighted its assistance to the physically-handicapped in this state in connection with National "Employ the Physically Handicapped" Week, observed October 1 through October 7. Douglas Backus, executive director, said that Goodwill Industries helps the community employ the handicapped by (1) referring handicapped people to its training to prospective employers, (2) providing training and expert advice to those employers have to turn down, and (3) by offering sheltered employment to the severely disabled.

What Is Civil Defense?

In the consideration of the problem of preparing the people of the State of Mississippi to take care of themselves in the event of a nuclear war, it is pertinent that we define the exact meaning of Civil Defense. Civil Defense is more aptly called "Government in Emergency". Fundamentally, Civil Defense is your federal, state, county and municipal governments acting in the interest of the people of their jurisdiction when any disaster or catastrophe threatens lives or property and interrupts normal day to day activities.

The Federal Government has a basic responsibility, pursuant to the 1950 Civil Defense Act, to provide leadership and guidance to the states in the preparation for an enemy attack. The State of Mississippi, acting through Governor Ross Barnett, is responsible for the emergency welfare of the people of the state in any emergency, natural or man-made that overwhelms local facilities. The State Civil Defense Director is charged with the responsibility of planning and developing the Governor's emergency governmental operations. The State Director is joined in this responsibility on the local level with the County and City Civil Defense Directors, who represent the Board of Supervisors and Mayor and Board of Aldermen in their emergency planning within their jurisdictions. In other words, Civil Defense is emergency government on each level, in order to give our country and the several states a capability in providing for the welfare of the people.

In order for any Civil Defense Council or Civil Emergency Planning Unit to be effective, it is absolutely necessary that each person working for the federal, state, county and city be assigned and accept emergency responsibility to provide the leadership that would be required for prompt emergency action.

As an example in this regard, the President has delegated emergency authority to all federal agencies to provide guidance and leadership to the States. As an example of this, the U. S. Public Health Service is charged with the responsibility of emergency health planning and mobilization and to provide guidance to the several states in this regard.

On the state level, the Governor of Mississippi is preparing a delegation of emergency responsibilities to all of the Mississippi Departments and Commissions in order to develop a comprehensive program of emergency planning on county and city levels. To illustrate this, the Mississippi Health Department has accepted the responsibility of direct liaison with the Public Health Service and to provide guidance and leadership to counties in the mobilization of all health resources of our state. This mobilization will involve the training of cadres to set up and operate the Civil Defense Emergency Hospitals stored in Mississippi, and the prompt utilization of medical stockpiles in times of war or disaster.

It is necessary that each person bear in mind that the responsibility of emergency planning lies with officials elected to public office at each level of government and that each Civil Defense Director is acting in and for these legal representatives of the people in planning their Civil

Indices Point To Increased Tourist Business For State

Two recently-released reports indicate that tourist business in Mississippi is significantly higher in 1961 as compared to 1960. Paul Gaither, state motor controller, reported that gasoline tax collections for September netted $4,974,075.44, a mark $279,856.06 higher than for the same month in 1960. His report also showed that so far in 1961, collections have been $807,076.13 over 1960 figures for the same Defense Program.

It is the thought that the program of Civil Defense in each of the subdivisions of our State, as well as the State Government, should be examined in the cold light of what is realistic and reasonable in order to give Mississippians every opportunity to survive the nuclear war that is becoming increasingly more probable each day.

Under the auspices of the Department of the Interior, National Park Service, the National Parks and Related Agencies report showed that the number of visitors to Mississippi tourist attractions during 1960 (including Mississippi, Alabama and Tennessee) 241,600 visitors were reported for August 1961, as compared to 210,700 for August 1960; and 2,454,200 for the January-August period of 1961, as compared to 2,291,000 for the same period in 1960. The Vicksburg National Military Park and National Cemetery report showed that 116,000 visitors toured these attractions in August 1961, as compared to 88,200 in August 1960. For the January-August period, the figures were 692,900 and 580,300, or an increase for those months of 112,600 for 1961 over 1960.

will have to use part of the spin cycle to avoid dripping. To reduce wrinkling in wash-wear fabrics, the house economist suggests using regular agitation on "speed" washers and a cool rinse, whether the clothes are washed in warm or cool water. Take the clothes from the washer after only a third of the spin cycle.

These facts were with clean swatches of fabric. The house economists are making further studies of laundering soiled wash-wear fabrics. They are using wash-wear blouses laundered after normal wear.

SALAD IDEA

A simple and popular fruit salad idea is to use peach sirup as part of the liquid called for in gelatin recipes. Then fold in sliced or diced peaches when the gelatin mixture thickens. For variety simmer the peach sirup for 10 minutes with whole cloves.

MAGIC OF OCTOBER'S

Mississippians like to welcome the month with its sunny fields, its rich harvest, its festivals. Farmers are harvesting corn, cotton, soybeans, and sweetpotatoes. The products of the farm are the basis of many of our food staples. Farmers are also producing a variety of farm products which are important factors in our life.

Non-manufacturing employment during the month was 283,500, or 1,200 over July and 6,900 over the previous August. Only mining and transportation failed to show an increase over a year earlier. Outside of manufacturing, trade was the leading employer in August with 85,700 workers, followed by government with 84,200.

How shall I launder my wash-wear garments for fewest wrinkles and the least amount of ironing? Every homemaker is interested in the answer to this question.

To find an answer, U. S. Department of Agriculture home economists tested several easy-care fabrics, including Arnel, cotton, dacron, nylon, orlon and blends of these fibers.

In general, they found the surest way to avoid ironing is still to drip dry these wash-wear fabrics after washing a small load at a time in lukewarm or even cool water. This method works well whether you wash by machine or by hand.

For best results, avoid squeezing or wringing the fabrics or letting them spin in the washer. You may prefer to take the garments out of the machine after washing and rinse them by hand. You may also take them out of the machine before the spin cycle and put them back for the rinses, but remove them before the final spin. If your machine will drain without spinning, you could leave the drip dry clothes in and skip the spin cycle.

Perhaps you have no place to hang clothes for drip drying. In this case, the best way to get the fewest wrinkles is to dry the fabrics in an automatic tumble dryer at a medium-heat setting. After the clothes are dry, it helps to let them tumble for about 10 minutes without heat. Take the garments from the dryer and hang them on hangers as soon as the tumbling is finishing, because new wrinkles may be set if you leave clothes in the dryer or in a basket.

If you prefer to hang up machine-washed clothes to dry, you
